Frequently Asked Questions

Why does the Trust need Personal Health Assessments?

The Personal Health Assessment is a preventive tool that enables members to identify potential health risks before they turn into large health plan claims. The goal is to identify and treat the small percentage of individuals on the Trust Health Plan that spend the majority of total claim dollars. Improving the health of all the plan members starts with measurement. The plan cannot know what health conditions need to be addressed until the health of the individual members is known.

What happens during a Personal Health Assessment?

First, participants complete a brief medical history form. We then measure their height, waist, weight and blood pressure. Lastly, we take a single blood sample from their arm. This total PHA process takes about fifteen minutes to complete.

What information will the Trust receive about their members?

CareATC provides the health plan with a comprehensive aggregate report of all members health. This report includes aggregate information on demographics, health risk factors and health conditions. It does not include participants' personal information. This information is provided only to the administrators of the plan (Rooney) for the purpose of determining members wellness rate incentive level. The trustees DO NOT have access to this information.

Confidential

CareATC commits to enacting, supporting, and maintaining confidentiality of procedures and activities as required by HIPAA. Personal health information is not shared with an employer or the Trust.
