It's easy to keep your policy with direct billing.

Your Trustmark insurance policy has stayed in force because your premiums were deducted directly from your pay.

What happens if you leave your employer?

Keeping your policy is simple.

When you leave your employer for any reason, you can easily continue to receive the valuable coverage provided by your Trustmark policy. Instead of paying premiums through payroll deduction, simply send your premium payments straight to Trustmark through what's called direct billing.

When you use direct billing, you have the convenient option of having the premium amount deducted from your checking or savings account – similar to how it was automatically deducted from your pay.

Why keep your existing policy?

- Your premium may have been based on your age at the time you applied for coverage.
- You may have already satisfied a pre-existing condition waiting period.
- If you apply for coverage in the future, a new policy might require evidence of insurability with medical history questions and a physical exam.

It's your story.

Help protect it by keeping your coverage with direct billing from Trustmark. It's that simple.
